Basics of Style

How do we think about our apparel? Do we think in terms of wowing others with our keen sense of taste and fashion? Or are we anxious to always be up on the current wave of novelty? Or maybe we don't even want to think about updating old clothes that we are comfortable with. Either way, we need to be aware that how we choose our clothing and how we wear it can express our dignity as persons and also enrich the lives of those around us with beauty. Having a true understanding of "style" can help us to do this.

Without being slaves of ever-changing fashion, we can still make use of creative fashion trends to brighten and freshen our wardrobe. There are even ways to better your style without shopping! Style can be a personal thing, not only do your physical characteristics play a role in what would suit you best, but also aspects of your personality. Please join us for this Art of Living for Women session exploring the importance of and the how-to's of style.

Yariella Taylor will present an informative talk on this topic and also will hold an interactive demo on getting to know your style.
